The Westfalian TW40

The Westfalian TW40 is one of the first 10-years whiskies from Germany, presented by the renowned Northhoff Feinbrennerei in cooperation with the The Westfalian. This Single Corn Whisky is matured in a fresh cask and boasts an impressive high proof of 69.60% ABV—almost a hazmat experience—despite its relatively mature age of 10 years.

TASTING NOTES

NOSE

On the nose, the TW40 impresses with an inviting sweetness reminiscent of freshly popped popcorn. Dominant woody notes are complemented by warm caramel and soft vanilla. A touch of forest honey rounds out the aroma, adding a natural, earthy complexity to the profile.

PALATE

On the palate, the whisky presents a sticky, oily texture that immediately exudes pure power—a whisky that delivers endless energy. The prevailing sweetness of sugary corn blends surprisingly well with a slight funky note and the character of burnt caramel. This combination creates an intense flavor experience, presenting itself in a purist, straight-forward manner.

FINISH

The finish is short to medium in length, characterized by a pronounced emphasis on woody notes that almost take center stage—yet always accompanied by a delicate sweetness. This persistent woodiness adds depth and allows the enjoyment to linger long after the last sip.

THOUGHTS

MARCEL

A whisky that hits straight to the heart with its raw, honest power and cheeky cowboy charm – pure drinking pleasure for those who love it intense and unvarnished. The Westfalian TW40 takes no prisoners, but that's exactly what makes it so damn exciting and delicious.

SASCHA

With impressive structure and a powerful yet well-balanced profile, the TW40 sets the standard for German high-proof whisky. The dominant wood note in the finish demands respect but provides a fascinating, lasting depth in this complex single corn whisky.
